THEINDEPENDENT REPUBLICANS. A Somewhat Uproarious Meeting in Brook-lyn.

New York, August 5.—The Brooklyn inde-pendent republicans held a mass meeting to-night in the grand opera house in that city. Every seat was filled from orchestra to cock-loft, and many who desired to do so were unable to effect an entrance to the building. A large portion of the audience was democratic and there were not a few Blaine republicans present who succeeded in making themselves rticularly prominent before the meeting

M. W. Maxwell called the meeting to order and introduced Horace E. Deming as chair-

Mr. Deming said that such an immense as Mr. Deming said that such an immense assemblage was an indication of the widespread dissatisfaction of republicans, and their desire as American citizens for good government. They believed that the republican candidate was not a fit person to hold the office of president. They were opposed to his electon. [Cheers and hisses.] Deming was frequently interrupted by similar demonstrations whenever the names of candidates were mentioned, and before he finished the uproar was so great that he could not be heard. that he could not be heard.

Carl Schurz was then introduced. He said he wished to address himself to republi-cans, and to appeal to their reason as men who loved their country. The tariff was not the question which they had to meet, and the charge that they were free traders was false. question was whether or not honest rument could be attained. We would ot indorse such a man as Blaine. It had cen asserted that Blaine was an abused man, and that his enemies were persecuting him. If this were so, it was not right. Nothing, the speaker said, was so distasteful to him as to discuss the character of any man, but he should not make any charges against Blaine which had not been made against Blaine which had not been made against himself. Schurz then read some of the Mulligan letters, and remarked that Blaine's friends disliked very much to be brought face to face with those letters. (Voice, "no, they don't." Cheers and hisses.) He went into the history of the Mulligan letters at considerable length, andience at times becoming so demonstrative. udience at times becoming so demonstrative that he was obliged to stop speaking for several moments. #### SOME CAMPAIGN SOAP.

The Interesting Travels of a Check Bearing

New Haven, August 5.—At the Yale Na-tional bank of this city, a check was drawn in favor of a man familiar to everybody in natoola politics, has been received for collection from a bank in New York. The check was for the sum of $10,000, and bore the signature of the Bill Publishing company of Norwich, who are the publishers of Mr. Blaine's book. It was indorsed over with Mr. James G. Blaine's signature on the back to Mr. William Walter Phelps, who had deposited it in his New York bank for collection, and the New York bank in turn had fewer. and the New York bank, in turn, had ferwarded it for that purpose to the Yale National bank in this city. Mr. J. A. Richardson, cashier of the Yale National bank, when spoken to on the subject said: "The check has been for warded to the Thames National bank of Nor wich, against which it was drawn to the orde Mr. Phelps had deposited the check, Mr. Rich-Mr. Phelps had deposited the check, Mr. Richardson refused to give its name. But it was subsequently ascertained that it was the City National bank of New York. The question naturally arises whether, in view of Mr. Blaine's personal and political relations to Mr. Phelps, this check does or does not represen part of the "soap" to be supplied for the political campaign. Why was the check forwarded to Mr. Phelps instead of being deposited in Mr. Blaine's own bank and in Mr. Blaine's own name? Blaine's own name?

"They were the spawn of the blunders, wars and corruption of the dark ages of our history. They had entered the temple of honor, not through the temple of merit but through the sepulchers of their ancestors. They were no better than their fathers. Some of them were more worse, for their privileges had produced ignorance and arrogancy." The reform of the house of lords, Mr. Bright declared, was urgent and inevitable. The creation of new peers to pass the franchise bill would; only get rid of the present difficulty. What was wanted was a limitation of the veto power of the house of lords. Should the people submit or should they curb the nobles as their fathers had curbed the kings of England. Mr. Bright then proceeded to explain the manner in which he would alike to see the power of the house of lords restricted. He would allow the peers to retain their present power during the first session that the bill should be presented to them, but he would alboutlely preclude them from a veto on the franchise bill, or any bill a second time. Many persons, no doubt, would think him too lenient to the peers, but he preferred remedies which, while effectual, would cause the least disturbance to existing institutions.

Mr. Chamberlain read a long and powerful attack upon the peers. "The divine right of peers was a ridiculous figment. If the lords remained obstinate in their opposition to the popular will, the present agitation would continue to the bilter end." He looked forward, he said, with eager hope to the result of this agitation. England was the chosen home of self-government. The people would have handed them to another conspirator, who has are stored to him on the series were handed to him on the saret in their present open to the condition of a start one of the conspirator when have handed them to another conspirator, who have a st

The people would never be subservient to the insolent pretensions of an hereditary class." The meeting displayed its approval of the sentiments expressed by the speakers, by frequent and enthusiastic appliause. A resolution was adopted denouncing the action of the house of lords in rejecting the reform of the franchise.

The cause which led to the killing of the child was a family broil, and was quite unfortunate for all concerned. The Peeler family is a hard working crowd, and permit no grass to grow under their feet, while on the contrary, Fain is a dissolute fellow, who has long ago made peace with work. Some two or three years ago he married into the family of Allen Peeler, and since that time has been a pensioner at the Peeler homestead, making their smokehouse his smokehouse, and their crib his crib—in fact he took everything easy.

He didn't pretend to work, but made frequent visits to Gainesville, and spent his 'time in idleness, but always reported at home for rations at meal time—he living on the Peeler farm about a quarter of a mile from the homestead. This idle vagrant way of doing didn't suit the Peeler thrift and st sundry and divers times, Mrs. Peeler would lecture her son-in-law about his profligate ways which advice was not appreciated by him. Again it seemed to have no effect on him whatever, as he would go straight away and sin the more, which chagrined Mrs. Peeler very much, and when she would get thoroughly aroused she would "come at him" like a regular cyclone pushed on by greased lightning, but still he would not look to the right nor left but would pursue the "even tenor of his way" utterly deaf to reason's call. quent occurrence than is generally supposed. male and female victims being numbered among all classes.

In some cases it might be termed a fanciful chimera of the brain, the mind seeming to be on the lookout for some new idea or delusion, which really has no foundation in fact. It appears to be an intellectual concentration upon one idea, the mind remaining clear upon every other point. The interity of the intellectual portion of the mind becomes apparently overpowered by the delusion and remaining in a kind of quasi state, until the false idea becomes a positive conviction. Jealousy, ambition, disappointment and any exciting cause creating an unexpected concentration of intellectual forces, are frequent causes of monomania. A man's wife receiving sudden and unexpected information relating to his amours with another woman, which, although without any foundation in fact, is revolved over and over in her excited mind, until jealousy is thoroughly aroused, a species of monomania being the result. Afterwards, it makes no difference what the cause of absenting himself, the wife can then assign only one cars which has taken possession of her brain. These affections have become very annoying and grievous and fi not relieved are apt to end in a more abnormal condition of the brain, producing family quarrels, dissentions, accusations, denials, dec., between man and wife, lover and sweetheart. They should all be treated as early as possible, and the most speedy and certain remedy is the use of B. B. B., which produces an immediate transformation through the blood, the effects of which are felt and acknowledged before using one bottle.

The patients are all easily aroused on certain subjects, and although ridiculous in the extreme, cannot be convinced of their error. One party may presume that the whole human iamily are afflicted with "mineral poison." while yet another may argue that "potash mixtures" are poisoning the blood of the mation, and that Revelutions from the Almighty placed him in a special position to offer t

Saved His Life.

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

I was called to see Mr. John Pearson, who was confined to his bed with what appeared to be consumption of the worst form. As all of his family had died of that dread disease (except his half brother), his death was regarded as certain and soon. After exhausting all the remedies, I finally as a last resort, sent for a bottle of Brewer's Lung Bestorer, and it acted like magic. He continued the use of it for some time and has been fully restored to health. So far as I could discover, he had consumption, and Brewer's Lung Restorer saved his life. J. O. HOLLOWAY, M. ANOTHER RESCUE FROM DEATH.

In 1881, while sewing on a machine, mywife was taken with a severe pain in her side, which was soon followed by hemorrages from her lungs, severe cough and fever, and could neither eat or sleep, and in a few weeks was reduced to a mere skeleton. Her stomach refused to retain any food, and the physician thought one of her lungs was entirely gone. At a final consultation of two physicians her case was pronounced hopeless. I tried Brewer's Lung Restorer by advice of one of the physicians, and she began to improve after the third dose. She continued the medicine, and is now in excellent health, and is better than she has been in several years. I believe Brewer's Lnng Restorer saved her

The A. P. and L. railroad is no myth, but an established certainty.

From the New York Commercial Bulletin. During the somewhat protracted period depression in the iron and steel markets, no less than nine of the seventeen steel rail works in this country have been closed for want of business. This fact alone would indidate a condition of things much to be regretted; but the unfavorable situation is further aggravated by the fact that, with production curtailed over 60 per cent there are production. Within a few days $28 at works; a price which, according to good authority, shows a loss of 75 cents to $1 per ton even where the most economical process is it lowest market value. Since the beginning the year, until recently, the ability of many facturers to keep their works in operation seems to depend upon the economy in cost of production. At the moment, the appearances are that, with those yet going, it will be a question of who can stand the greatest losses.

The market is flooded with cheap, inferior rhe market is flooded with cheap, injerior baking powders, and adulteration is extensively practiced. CONTAGIOUS.

IN 1879 SCROFULOUS ULCERS BROKE OUT ON my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged, and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filted with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Graduslly the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in carnest. Bone ulcers began to take the place of those hitherto on the surface. I became a mere wreek. For months at a time could not get my hands to my bead because of extreme soreness. Could not turn in bed. Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 1889, after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer has healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where once was a mass of corruption is now a heaithy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

THE adjournment of the Egyptian conference without result has reopened the conflict between English and French diplomats concerning the future control of Egyptian finances. Already the government of both countries have instructed their toreign representatives to urge the policies which they respectively represent.

"LONDONERS now regard it a cold day in the great metropolis when several packages of dynamite, wrapped in Irish newspapers, are not found somewhere in the city's limits. THE larger portion of the counties of the state have chosen delegates to the state convention, which meets here on the eighteenth. Several acted vesterday. Almost without exception the administration of Governor Mc-Daniel has been approved, and his name indorsed for another term. The governor will be renominated without opposition.

BRYANT has now assumed all the dignities of the marshalship. At least it is to be hoped that he has, as he yesterday took charge of the office. As to how the administration will be received with the people with whom Mr. Bryant has become associated, it rests altogether with that gentleman himself. Let us hope that the duties of the position will be directed toward discharging the true intents of the office and not as a po litical machine nor partisan power.

RESULTS of the republican revolt are be ginning to show that it is no mere question of talk. States heretofore thoroughly republican are lessening their majorities, and cities renowned for republican supremacy are already declaring for democratic principles. The staid old city of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, in the nest of republicanism, is the last, (and has chosen democratic officials for the Arst time in years; and this is very near Mr. Blaine's home

THE latest rumor is that First Assistant the postoffice department and that Gresham is to be given a life judgeship. If as a subordinate in the postoffice department Hatton has figured so conspicuously in the control of the affairs of the government, it is pre sumed that as its official head he will become potent in the direction of such matters as are supposed to come within the duties of the president. THE MELONS AND THE RAILROADS.

In an interview published yesterday, the railroad tariff on watermelons was discussed. The railroads have made answer to the com plaint of the melon growers, that the raise in the freight rate was forced on them by their western connections. To this the reply is made that if the western roads can force up the price on melons, the Georgia roads can force up the price on grain and meat. Wherever the responsibility rests, great injustice has been done the melon growers by the railroads. A freight rate was established letter from the great Massachusetts reformer, last season and enormous shipments were | Editor Dana pleasantly remarks: made under it. The farmers were given to understand, at least by the agents of the roads, that equal advantages in rates and schedules would be offered for this season. Under this belief a very large acreage was put in melons. After the crop had been planted, and before it was shipped, an advance was made in the rates amounting, we believe, to out $25 a car. This rate is practically prohibitory. It has required the nicest manage-

Stanley went to Africa to find and succor livingston, who was then cast away in the dark, mysterious land of fever and death. In this mission he was successful; and after he had given Livingston needed aid he im mediately began a course of exploration that far exceeded in range and value all previous efforts in Africa. were explored and mapped; the people of that immense section of the earth's surface were described, and all other leading mysteries of the region explained.

About seven years ago he marched from the east coast directly across the continent, the curtailment of the power of the house of of the Congo river. He then made known torial Africa, flowing from an interior basin that was at once healthy, fertile and exceedingly populous-a river of larger commercial ossibilities than the Nile. Portugal had ong claimed the territory at the mouth of a claim upon the great Congo region. Even her claim to the mouth of the mighty river was disputed by England.

Stanley came out in 1877. In 1876 the at the invitation of Leopold, king of the Belgians, at Brussels, and formed an association for the exploration of central Africa. At that time they proposed to go to work from Zanzabar way, but when Stanley had told the story of his explorations, the man and the work had met. The international 'ongo association was organized under the auspices of King Leopold, and Stanley was placed in charge of the enterprise.

BENIY'S GIG.

Ou's great men are bent on making them elves conspicuous. The great feature this season, of that famous resort, Long Branch, is the Hon. Benjy Brewster, attorney general of this glorious union of states. The Hon. Benjy is beautifully described by a correspondent of the New York World:

words can the strength of the movement against Mr. Blaine.

Mr. Sewall's letter calmly reviews the field. His action is taken, evidently, after deep consideration. He reaches the conclusion that the charge against Mr. Blaine in the Little Rock matter "appears so well proved that it has damaged seriously his reputation as a public man," while "his conduct as secretary of state, especially in the affairs of Chili, exhibit a lamentable want of statesmanship." Moreover, "his recent recommendation of distributing the surplus revenue of the union among the states is so monstrous as, of itself alone, to unfit him for the presidency."

The Blaine men cannot dismiss Judge Sewall with a sneer, nor howl him down with the cry o "dude." His opinion carries weight, and will be the means of carrying many wavering republican over to the side of political purity and reform.

Washington, Ga., August 5, 1884. A Successful Electric Motor CLEVELAND, August 5 .- Another successful trial f the electric motor street car has been made on the Garden street line. It was made in the presence of several officers of the road. Superintendent Duty acted as driver. By throwing back a handle similar to a brake, on the front platform, a powerful current of electricity was turned from the fron conducting rods laid between the track into the dynamo machine. This set the gearing and pulley wheels in motion, and the car started off at a lively rate, towing behind it an ordinary horse car. It glided along smoothly and rapidly without apparent means of locomotion. A rate of about eight miles an hour—considerably faster than street car horses are accustomed to travel—was achieved without difficulty. The journey to the end of the electric railway was completed without any mishap or break in the machinery. After the trial regular trips at five eents a fare were made and will be continued. Another motor is being constructed, and the two will be run until next winter, when it will be decided as to the future. nandle similar to a brake, on the front platform

A split oc-curred between them on private matters, and Rog-ers threatened to break Ruhl's neck—hence the warrant. Rogers was placed under a bond of $100 to keep the peace.

The Baseball Dispute. SPARTA, Ga., August 5 .- [Special.]-The commu ication in Sunday's Constitution from Milledgeville as to why the game was not played here on ville as to why the game was not played here on Friday between the "Stars" and the "Reeses" is, by no means, correct. The former club was notified before coming over that our club would not play with them if they brought any but Baldwin men. The Stars came, bringing with them a pitcher named Wolfe from a distance, but to prevent his being recognized he bore the assumed name of Davis. This deception was detected, and the Reeses refused to play as long as the Stars retained that man. Contrary to the statement of your correspondent the Reeses did entertain the Stars by taking some to private houses, and refunding to others the money they spent in paying their bill at the hotel.

The object of the meeting was stated by Judge Hillyer and Mr. Don Bain to be to interest the best people of all classes in good municipal government and prevent rings and eliques from taking the city's affairs into their own hands. The necessity of such a movement on the part of the people was forcibly presented by Captain James W. English, Mr. E. P. Chamberlin, Judge Hillyer, Mr. Bain, Mr. H. M. Kramer, Colonel Spencer, Mr. William Laird, Colonel Thomas and many others.

Colonel Spencer moved that a committee of eighteen, three from each ward, be appointed by the meeting to report business for the next meeting to be held Thursday night, 7th August, which was adopted. The meeting appointed on this committee the following gentlemen:

First ward—Judge John Collier, Mr. Aaron Haas, and Mr. H. M. Kramer.

Second ward—Colonel P. L. Mynatt, Mr. W. C. Dodson and Captain A. C. Wyly.

Third ward—Mr. Jeff Robinson, Mr. E. T. Allen and Colonel L. P. Grant.

Fourth ward—Mr. J. M. McGuirk, Mr. J. C. Hendrix and Captain E. F. May.

Fifth ward—Dr. J. S. Lawton, Mr. M. R. Berry and Mr. W. W. Boyd.

Sixth ward—Mr. Dave Wylie, Mr. W. A. Hemphill and Colonel W. S. Thomson. Georgia's public men, and of Anne Franklin, grand-daughter of Colonel Cleveland, of Kings cheered and soothed by her presence as by a pure phill and Colonel W. S. Thomson.
On motion of Captain English Colonel Westmoreland was added to the committee as its chairmoreland was added to the committee as its chairever so deep, whether from the community, which man.

Judge Hillyer moved that all persons of all conditions and classes of the city who have good government at heart be invited to attend and participate in the next meeting. In support of his motion Judge Hillyer said it was not the object of this movement to favor any man or any class of men, but to insure, if possible, good and pure government to all the people of Atlanta. The motion was unanimously adopted.

The meeting then adjourned to meet again at 8.

Nor can I forget that in the race I made for congress how gallant Clayton county, and her choice for senator, first, last and all the time.

I see from this same article that that Mr. F. P. Rice feels so assured of success that he speaks flippantly of me, and says he would not complain of my candidacy, and that "he would rely upon the calm judgment of the district and his record in the general assembly to, avey him through successfully." I never sought the place the gentleman seems so anxious to fill, and do not seek it now. I have not the overflowing patriotism of the gentleman. I have only sought to serve my country in war and in peace, when my country men have called me to the front. But if Clayton county does hot put forward a man for senator, and my friends see fit to call upou me, I will not feel at liberty to decline.

Of course, if I come into the race I shall take pleasure in giving Mr. Rice the benefit of his record in the general assembly. I will do even more. I will give him the benefit of his record from Nassau down to that dark day in the panic of last May when some one was seen to come out of the Merchant's bank, with his money bags under his arms.
